

Web of Unity—A National Spiritual Listening Tour

My name is Beki Howlett, an attorney turned contemplative practices teacher. I AM also an aspiring Unity minister tasked with a Divinely ordained mission.

While completing prerequisite coursework for the Unity Worldwide Spiritual Institute's Ministerial and Religious Studies Program, I looked inward and earnestly asked: What is mine to do now?

And the answer came—Visit every Unity congregation in the United States. Document the journey. Let the light of each spiritual community be seen and shared.

Web of Unity is an independent, grassroots initiative that is part spiritual pilgrimage, part social research, and part sacred storytelling. I'm embarking on a national, in-person tour to:

- Listen deeply to Unity congregants and leadership;
- Attend services and special events in each community; and
- Raise awareness of the Unity movement and individual congregations.

Ultimately, this initiative is fueled by Spirit, devotion, and data. To take a spiritual “pulse” of the Unity movement, I will leverage anonymous surveys, individual interviews, and listening sessions to gain a deeper understanding of our unique perspectives and values.

Weaving the Web Together

As I set out on this Spirit-led pilgrimage, I know the journey is not mine alone. Every Unity community that I visit is an intrinsic thread in the living tapestry of our movement. My role is to show up authentically to listen, learn, and amplify the unique light of each congregation.

You can make a difference in this mission by:

- Serving as a local ambassador—introducing me to your congregation, offering guidance, and connecting me to local resources.
- Providing hosting opportunities—from a guest room to housesitting or petsitting.
- Creating opportunities to serve—inviting me to lead a meditation, speak, sing, or join in community service. The world is our oyster!

The Web of Unity grows stronger with every hand extended and every heart that says “yes.” If you feel called, please reach out and follow along today. Thank you for your presence. 🙏
